OPERATION OCELOT

ON TOUR!
DAKATCHA WOODLAND | KENYA

Around 90% of the coastal forests of Eastern Africa have already been lost, which means species such as the Serval are losing their natural habitats.
The Dakatcha Woodland remains crucial as a key biodiversity area, with your help, we can fundraise to expand the reserve and protect the home of so many species.

SAVE YOUR PENNIES SAVE THE SERVAL

You can become a species 'super-saver' using your money-box, with any type of fundraising, no matter how big or small, every penny counts! Here are some ideas:

- Collect up all your small change
- Have a wildlife fancy dress day
- Hold an animal themed bake-sale
- Put on a 'Perfect Pet' photo wall competition
